LILRC Conference on Libraries and the Future

RE: Poster Session Applicants

DATE: February 19, 2008

Each year at our LILRC Conference on Libraries and the Future, the research being done at the local graduate library programs is highlighted at a Poster Session. This is a good opportunity for your school to feature the scholarly work of your students and share it with library leaders across Long Island.

At this year's Conference, "Millennials: Talkin' 'Bout Y Generation," the Poster Session will take place on Friday afternoon, October 24, 2008 in Fortunoff Hall at Dowling College in Oakdale, New York. Students whose work is selected to be displayed will be honored with a certificate and acknowledged to the Conference participants in a ceremony preceding the Session. Conference fees for those selected will be waived and students presenting may enjoy the day networking with library leaders and enjoying our speakers and a wonderful lunch.

I am enclosing "Call for Student Poster Session Participant" applications, rules, including due dates for proposals, and presentation tips. We hope that the Poster Session will represent the best of your School which will bring much deserved respect to your professional endeavors. The Conference Committee looks forward to meeting and paying tribute to your students - the future leaders of our profession.

If you have any questions concerning the Conference in general or the Poster Session please do not hesitate to contact me at 516-794-2570 ext. 252 or via email at snewson@mail.com. We hope to see you and your students at our Conference in October.
